

GUIDELINES FOR POLYTECHNICS AND INSTITUTIONS OF TECHNOLOGY COPYING UNDER THE CLL LICENCE

The licence covers photocopying and electronic copying from books, journals and periodicals owned by the licensee. Copied material can be distributed to students in hardcopy form, on CD/DVD or by email. It can also be made available on the licensee's password protected intranet or on an electronic whiteboard.

COPYING PERMITTED UNDER YOUR LICENCE ...

- up to 10% or one chapter of a book (whichever is the greater);
- up to 15 pages of all (or part) of a single work contained in a collection or anthology of works, even if the works are published separately;
- one article (or part of an article) from a periodical—additional articles may be copied from the same periodical if they are on the same subject;
- an artistic work (such as an illustration);
- a complete work, only where the work is out of print and unavailable for purchase (authority to photocopy required from Copyright Licensing Ltd);
- material obtained through the Interloan service if it cannot be obtained from any other source.

Digital copies:

- must be identified with source details;
- may not be systematically stored and indexed with the intention of creating an electronic database of works;
- may not be made available on a publicly accessible website;
- may not be made available to anyone other than students and staff of the licensee.

All extracts may be included in course packs or books of readings as long as the source is correctly identified and they are accompanied by the following Copyright Warning Notice.

Copyright Warning Notice

This material is protected by copyright and has been copied by and solely for the educational purposes of [LICENSEE] under licence. You may not sell, alter or further reproduce or distribute any part of this [coursepack/material] to any other person. Where provided to you in electronic format, you may only print from it for your own use in the relevant course of instruction. Failure to comply with the terms of this warning may expose you to legal action for copyright infringement and/or disciplinary action.

The licence does not permit copying from the following works:

- works that state they may not be copied under a copyright reprography licence of this nature;
- works downloaded from the Internet;
- printed music (including the words);
- loose maps and charts;
- unpublished religious orders of service;
- house journals (publications for employees);
- New Zealand newspapers;
- photographs and/or illustrations published separately from a textual work;
- unpublished works created by educational institutions and used internally or under licence;
- privately owned work issued for tuition purposes and limited to a clientele who pay fees;
- theses, dissertations and student papers;
- electronic works and databases of works;
- 'Copy Permitted' publications that can be freely copied for educational or other purposes.

Permission must be obtained from the copyright owners before copying any of this material.

SAMPLING SURVEYS

CLL needs to know what copyright material is copied under licence to determine what proportion of licence fees should be allocated to the copyright owners of works copied. So each year a number of licensees are statistically selected from each sector to provide data on what they are copying.

For a period of eight weeks the selected institutions keep bibliographic records of all copying of copyright material. Tertiary institutions also provide CLL with data on copyright material copied and distributed in course packs and books of readings throughout the year.

This information is used to distribute licensing revenue to publishers, authors and artists whose works are being copied under the CLL licence.

Staff are fully briefed on the sampling survey process before it begins and will not be asked to be involved in such a survey for a number of years.
